CABBAGE'S LITTLE BROTHER.

Brussels Sprouts Are Like Bigger Heads of Vegetable, but More Delicate.
Brussels sprouts is one of the refined members of the cabbage family which is not grown as generally as it should be for market and for the home table. The plants require more perfect conditions than cabbage, especially in Photograph by Long Island agricultural experiment station.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS.
The way of soil moisture. They also need a humid atmosphere to produce the most satisfactory crop.
This vegetable is much more largely grown in European countries than in America, and it should receive more general attention here. Seed for the last crop should be sown at the same time as late cabbage.—National Stockman and Farmer.

"DON'TS" FOR COW BUYERS.

Five Things to Avoid if One Wishes to Build Up a Dairy Herd.
In an article on "Building Up a Dairy Herd," in the Ohio Farmer, William A. Martin says:
A few of the things that we have learned to avoid in buying cows are:
First—Don't buy without testing for tuberculosis and watch the veterinary closely when he is doing the testing. See that the tuberculin is fresh, that the seal is unbroken, and then read the thermometer yourself. Second—Don't buy cows that are too old. By the time you find out whether you want them or not they are past their usefulness. Third—Don't buy cows that are not marked typically for the breed you want. Fourth—Don't buy from a herd unless you see plenty of calves or have extra good proof that they have been sold. In this way you may avoid contagious abortion. Fifth—Don't buy a cow to be in calf unless you can handle a calf in her. Sixth—Don't buy a cow with little scars exactly opposite each other in pairs an inch or so apart in the vulva. These are remnants of stitches. When the cow calved some time in the past she threw out her womb and is likely to do so again. Seventh—Test every cow as to standing, handle her udder and see for yourself whether she shows any symptoms of kicking. Eighth—Take a look in her mouth. Quite frequently a cow that is nine or ten years old and in good shape will be sold for a five-year-old. Ninth—Because she has plenty of breeding don't expect a wasp waisted, goat uddered beast to break any performance records.
The plebeian prune, which, dressed with thick cream, is a close second to June strawberries, is greatly improved in edible quality if soaked from twelve to twenty-four hours before cooking, while the uncoked prune soaked in warm water in which the desired amount of sugar has been dissolved is said to have as fine a flavor as the fresh fruit.
A woman can and is usually willing to stand a good deal of downright hard work if she feels there is good reason for her doing so and that her labors are recognized and appreciated, and this goes far toward lightening the load, but it is indeed hard lines for her who slaves from daylight till dark and long past, who receives only cross words and complaints in acknowledgment of her services.
The more frequently the hog raiser can bring his hogs to seven months of age and have them weigh 300 pounds apiece the larger per cent of gain he will make on his investment, as in a majority of cases quick gains are economical gains. The above result can be obtained from a clover, alfalfa or rape pasture, skim milk or buttermilk during the interval and corn and oil meal at the rate of 9 to 1 as a finishing ration.
If the Danish dairyman can make money in dairying on $700 and $800 land and the farmer on the Jersey and Guernsey Island can make a good living and something besides on land worth from $1,000 to $1,200 per acre and buy high priced imported feeds to boot, it looks as if the farmers of the United States on lands worth from $80 to $150 per acre and capable of producing all of the raw stuff needed in the turning out of finished dairy products had about the surest and easiest snap that could be imagined.

IMPORTANT PIGEON ESSENTIALS.

Our pictures speak louder than words. The first shows two nappies, the earthen bowl which Mrs. Pigeon lines with tobacco stems, which nest material keeps her squabs from lice and swollen hocks.
The upper style is the homer, nine inches in diameter and two and one-half inches deep, with flat base.
The lower is size for runts and carnaux and is eleven inches in diam-

PIGEON NAPPIES.
Two men, an Englishman and a Scotchman, were traveling from Aberdeen to London in a train. They reached Carlisle without exchanging a word, and during the stoppage there the Englishman got out and had some refreshment. When he got back to his compartment he found the Scotchman sitting where he had left him and looking more dour and solemn than ever.
"It's a long, wearisome journey," said the Englishman when the train started by way of making conversation.
The Scotchman looked at him with an angry frown.
"So it ought to be," he replied grudgingly; "it costs two pounds nineteen and ninepence."

PIGEON BATHING.
contaminated with white scum from bathing.
A special tub should be provided, for pigeons love to bathe often, and it is necessary for their health.
Once a week in winter is sufficient, but they will take a dip every day in summer if opportunity is given.
A little creolin in the bath kills crawlers. The tub shown is a dandy, and the running water is a big convenience.
The Everglades and big cypress swamp of Florida are inhabited by the remnant of a tribe of Indians, the Seminoles, who have been deprived of their lands and have taken up their abode in these swamps as a last retreat.
A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, and a churning of butter is usually no sweeter than the worst mess of cream which was used in the making of it. Sometimes buttermakers and more often creamery managers and directors overlook this simple fact.
In selecting a breed of dairy cows it is not so vital a thing that one should have this or that variety as that he should select the breed which he likes best. The performance of the several leading breeds is so nearly on an equality that success is largely a matter of the man and his method anyway.
At the close of the strawberry season a few weeks ago a Missouri valley gardener reported a total of 2,350 quarts of strawberries picked from a bed containing just a quarter of an acre. These berries brought on an average 15 cents a box, or a total of $357.45. Multiplying this by four gives $1,429 as the per acre yield. This compares well with returns in any part of the country, including even California or Texas.

Keep Up Your Account.
Consider the soil as a deposit bank. If you are checking on your deposit you will soon exhaust it unless you put in a little more than you take out. The more you leave there the richer you are. As Poor Richard said, "Always taking out and never putting in, one soon comes to the bottom of his meat tub." Your soil is your meat tub.—Home and Farm.

For the Farmer Who Thinks.

Harrowing corn after it is planted is looked upon by the Wisconsin experiment station as somewhat hazardous, because the harrow is sure to injure some of the hills.
Not every farmer stops to think that the guards on his mower get smooth and do not cut so well as they might. Take them all out and grind them. The machine will cut about as good as new for a long time after that.
A careful and intelligent use of stable manure will build up the fertility of any farm. The trouble with the average farmer is that he wastes his manure. The habit of regarding manure as valueless is one of the most expensive a farmer can have.
Rotation of crops is one of the simple, practical methods of increasing the productivity of the farm and distributing labor. If you are not already practicing rotation in your farming, now is a good time to work out a systematic cropping scheme for your farm. A practical system of rotation can be worked out for every farm.

An Appetizer.
Of sporting offers made by the large eaters of old that made to Charles Gustavus of Sweden, when he was besieging Prague is worthy of recall. A peasant offered for the king's amusement to devour a large hog then and there. General Koenigsmark, as runs the tale, suggested that one with such an appetite ought to be burned as a sorcerer, on which the peasant said to the king, "Sir, if your majesty will make that old gentleman take off his spurs I will eat him before I begin the pig."

Scotty's View of It.
Two men, an Englishman and a Scotchman, were traveling from Aberdeen to London in a train. They reached Carlisle without exchanging a word, and during the stoppage there the Englishman got out and had some refreshment. When he got back to his compartment he found the Scotchman sitting where he had left him and looking more dour and solemn than ever.
"It's a long, wearisome journey," said the Englishman when the train started by way of making conversation.
The Scotchman looked at him with an angry frown.
"So it ought to be," he replied grudgingly; "it costs two pounds nineteen and ninepence."

A Bright Maid.
They are telling a story of the favored suitor of a Cleveland society girl who called at the house of his inamorata recently and found a new parlor maid at the door. "Is Miss Blank in?" This is Mr. Dash, he explained.
The maid smiled brightly. "Oh, yes, sir," she replied, and led him into the drawing room.
Here he waited the better part of an hour, when he finally summoned the maid again. "Did you forget to tell Miss Blank that I was here?" he asked impatiently.
"No, sir," answered the new maid. "Miss Blank hasn't got back from shopping yet."
"But you told me she was in!"
"Yes, sir! She told me positively that she was always at home to you, sir."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Tommy Knew.
"Tommy," said the teacher, "how do they ascertain the measurement of a vessel?"
"I guess they measure it with a navy yard," was the unexpected reply.—Chicago News.

Unique Epitaph.
Among the relics in the ancient German town Mennonite church, in Germantown avenue, above Herman street, Philadelphia, is a tombstone on which this sentence is inscribed:
"By George, It's Cold!"

Barley.
Barley is supposed to be a native of western Asia, where wild forms still exist. It was one of the first cereals cultivated for food. Barley belongs to the grass family, or gramineae, and to the genus hordeum.

During the four years 19 children have been baptized, 17 members have been received into the church and the pastor, Rev. J. H. Little has attended 129 funerals, only five of these were in the parish.

BITTER ROT OF APPLE.

One of the Worst Diseases the Fruit Grower Has to Contend With. In sections where it is prevalent bitter rot is the most dreaded of all the common apple diseases. After the fruit has been safely nipped through the attacks of scab and the codling moth and is about ready to be harvested an outbreak of bitter rot may destroy the entire crop of some varieties without much warning. It is rather spasmodic in its appearance, depending largely on weather conditions. Hot weather with plenty of moisture is essential to the rapid development of the disease. Bordeaux mixture is still the best fungicide to use for bitter rot, the lime-sulphur solution having proved only partially effective against this disease. Fortunately Bordeaux mixture has very little or no injurious effect on the apple after the young fruits have attained an age of six or eight weeks.

The mixture should be used as weak as is consistent with good results in order to avoid as much as possible leaving a stain on the ripe fruit. A mixture composed of three pounds of bluestone and four pounds of lime to each fifty gallons of water, if properly applied, is sufficient for ordinary bitter rot treatment, but the very susceptible varieties in districts where the disease is common should be sprayed with a stronger mixture, composed of four pounds of bluestone and four pounds of lime to fifty gallons of water.

The trees should be sprayed four times at intervals of two to three weeks, beginning seven to eight weeks after the petals have been shed. In the bitter rot belt the dates of the application would be about as follows, though varying somewhat with the season: First, June 25-30; second, July 10-15; third, July 25-31, and, fourth, Aug. 10-15. Such a course of treatment, properly carried out, will secure protection against outbreaks of bitter rot under the most adverse conditions. By observing the weather conditions and watching for the first infections the first application may be delayed a few days and the intervals lengthened so that three sprayings can be made to do the work. With very susceptible varieties this is risky, but with varieties only moderately susceptible three sprayings are sufficient.

The removal of cankered limbs and the destruction of bitter rot mummies doubtless help to control the disease and should be practiced, but these precautions cannot take the place of spraying.

For the control of the second brood of the codling moth arsenate of lead at the rate of two pounds to each fifty gallons of Bordeaux mixture should be used in the second and third bitter rot sprayings.—Bulletin, United States Department of Agriculture.

Blessed is the man who gives his neighbors the benefit of his good methods. He becomes a public benefactor and aids in the world's progress.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Gleaned From Law Books.

In the great majority of the states two witnesses are necessary to the validity of the will, in a few states three witnesses are required, and in a few others, where the will is written entirely in the handwriting of the testator, no witnesses are required. Some states require the addresses of witnesses to be inserted after their names, and this is good practice even where not required.

The law of New York and probably of others provides that each owner of two adjoining tracts of land, except when they otherwise agree, shall make and maintain a just and equitable portion of the division fence between such lands unless one of such owners shall choose to let his lands lie open to the use of all animals which may be lawfully upon the other's lands and does not permit any animals lawfully upon his premises to go upon lands so lying open.

The public holidays that have become firmly established as such by custom are Christmas, New Year's, Memorial or Decoration day, Fourth of July and Thanksgiving day. These are a man working by the month may claim as holidays without affecting his salary, excepting, of course, in cases of necessity where his services are required on such days in order to avoid or prevent loss to the employer.—Breeder's Gazette.

The Rebekahs had a good time at their district meeting, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Vesta C. Whitten, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly from Fairfield, was present and the District Deputy president, Mrs. Alice Farwell, and ten others from Sunset Lodge, Bethel. The whole company numbered about 90 members. Supper was served at 6.30 and refreshments of ice cream and cake later in the evening.

Who paid for the Teddy Drink? I have not been able to learn. Of course it must be the milk punch as our people drink nothing else.

Monday night there was a white frost on low land but few gardens are up to suffer the freeze. But little of the usual amount of sweet corn has been planted by our farmers on account of the cold wet spring.

The brown tail moths and the tent caterpillars are plenty, crawling over shrubbery and buildings, and in consequence many of our people are doing considerable scratching from the poison of the brown tail moth.

Our little boys' base ball team, whose ages range from 11 to 14 years, are still monarch of all the games they have played. They have played the Bryant Pond, Bethel, South Paris and Mechanic Falls clubs and two picked nines of the smartest young men that could be selected in our village. Young Gardiner and Swan are wonderful pitchers.

Our Finn church, Lutheran, has the largest attendance of any of our villages. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Julian, is one of our finest citizens, engaged in every good work. Our village is well represented in the way of churches, Universalist, Baptist, Methodist and Lutheran, all well supplied with settled pastors, all a credit to our village and the societies they represent.

Our village people were startled a few days since for the first time for many years by the whistle of our manufacturing factories sounding the fire alarm. Our fire department, which consists of all of the inhabitants of our place, turned out promptly. It being near mid-day our streets were soon filled with a struggling crowd armed with ladders, buckets, and tin dippers, all going to the fire which was reported to be on Pioneer street.

When near the cause of alarm it proved to be a burning brush pile.

A. M. Andrews of South Woodstock has a complete set of Robert B. Thomas Almanacs from 1811 to 1832. I recently met a man who inquired of me if I had bought an auto. I informed the man that several years ago I had a great desire to buy an auto but my wife's opposition was near hysterical, and so I gave it up.

He replied that he wished his wife had been taken the same way, which might have saved him several hundred dollars, said he had a nice little bank account which he drew, and bought him an automobile. The first year it was an expensive luxury. The second year it was a depreciation of more than one half of its first cost, and the year filled with disappointment and uncertainties. The third year, misery, and with his experience he much preferred a bank account to an auto.

Baccalaureate Service.

The Baccalaureate Service for the graduating class of N. H. S., 1913, was held at the Norway Opera House, Sunday Morning, June 9th, at 10.30 and was largely attended.

Special music was furnished by the High school orchestra, composed of Marion Haskell, Clara Shepard, Albert
Bartlett, Fred Winslow, violin; Richard Stiles, cornet; Floyd Haskell, clarinet; Gerald McDaniels, drums; Ruth Cummings, piano. The graduating class composed of Ava M. Andrews, Eula K.
Bicknell, Clifford M. Buck, Faunie S.
Buck, Aura B. Cook, Mary E. Drew,
Theodore R. Frost, Thelma M. Gerry,
Marion E. Gibson, Clayton E. Heath,
Lillian E. Roy, Roland S. Noyes, Dorothy
F. Noble, Harold C. Pollock, Eva G.
Richardson, Marie A. Russell, Sara E.
True and Katie Ward, were marshalled to their places in the hall by Merle A.
Russell.

The choir of the Congregational church, including H. L. Horne, Mrs.
Luella Smiley, Lona Noble, C. W. Horne, and Mrs. H. L. Horne, pianist, rendered several fine selections.

The scripture reading and prayer was offered by Rev. E. C. Wentworth, pastor of the Methodist church and the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev.
R. J. Bruce, pastor of the Congregational church.

Rev. Mr. Bruce in his opening remarks expressed his appreciation to the class of 1913 for conferring the honor on him
of delivering the baccalaureate sermon.
He took for his subject, "The Worth of
Will," taking his text from Proverbs, 18:1, "He that is slack in his work is a brother to him that is a great waster," and Nehemiah 4:3, "The people had a will to work."

In illustrating his subject he drew several vivid pictures to convey the idea he wished to impress upon the minds of the young people. The first was a home where the wife spent her days in idleness, lounging and attending to affairs not concerning her welfare, and "her cupboards and clothes-presses were bare." In contrast to this is a woman of an industrious mind, one who is anxious for the home comforts, and epins and sawed and "her cupboards and clothes-presses are full." He also pictured the scene at Jerusalem, where the people who rebuilt the wall under the direction of Nehemiah had a mind to work
and entered it with a firm determination, and succeeded.

In the course of his sermon he said that there is a present day application to these truths, if the farmer is not industrious he is a brother to a great waster, the preacher who does not select his text and prepare his sermon early in the week is a waster, and the medical student who does not pay attention to the professor's lecture, at some time in his career when at some sick bed will lack the aid of that lecture which he allowed to be wasted; the man who does not do his work well and wastes his time and is slack, will not accomplish anything.

Aspiration is absolutely necessary but is not will. Napoleon, Washington, Lincoln, and everyone who accomplished anything has had an aspiration, and saw a vision of that which they desired to accomplish, and is necessary.

Opportunity is essential but is not will. The fault is, we want the world to recognize our ability before we are ready; what is needed, is expressed in the New England expression,—"We need more of the rat-and-get-er!" and stop feeling badly because we are not recognized.

The world has always given the man
an opportunity who possesses a determined determination. The world is at the feet of all men and women who have determination of character and will power.

Everything a man possesses is the result of the work of the will, it is the fruit of his exercise of the will power.
There are the creature comforts, everything which one possesses, houses, lands and all that which makes one comfortable is the result of labor and that labor is the result of the will.

Then comes the power of enjoyment and the contentment of mind. A man cannot enjoy himself unless he has a capacity and he does not secure that capacity unless he works.

Character is the result of the exercising of the will, and a strong will and a clean life go together. Most men want to be remembered and that is accomplished by building a memorial and in closing Mr. Bruce said, "Always exercise your will, do not be slack in your work and do always that which is right."

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes
once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal,
healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A Lady's Comment

On Medicine and Religion

The following letter is from a lady whose name I am not at liberty to use. If I should mention her name she would be known by almost every reader. She writes, in part:

"Your article entitled 'Medicine and Religion' has been read and re-read by me many times. It seems to me that the article contains the substance of all that has been said about Christian Science, new thought, suggestive therapeutics and other forms of mental healing.

"I am very much pleased to observe that you are putting out into the world such useful literature. It will do untold good, without doubt; not only for those who take medicine, but for those who try to get along without taking medicine. Your article is terse, to the point, and will be read by thousands.

"Medicine and religion have always been very closely associated. Only in very recent years have the two been regarded as separate professions. I am glad you brought this out so clearly. The tendency of to-day is strongly in the direction of medicine and religion coming back together again. With your immense facilities for spreading useful information I am sure you will greatly assist the progress of the times in sending out broadcast such articles. I want you to know that your efforts are appreciated.

"As to Peruna, I have nothing to say. I very seldom make use of any medicine. But I assure you that your article has so enthused me with the good advice it contains that if I have any need for medicine I shall certainly buy a bottle of Peruna. I shall not neglect to recommend it to others also."

Is famous pie-crust flour—makes it tender and light and flaky and perfectly digestible. Just as good for bread and cake and biscuits and whatever you are baking. And the most economical flour milled—gives you most loaves to the sack.

Your grocer keeps William Tell. Insist on it next time you order flour.

Nothing Can Keep Fresh After It Is Cut Up

You can't expect the chopped-up tobacco that comes in packages to be fresh, because it has been chopped up too long a time. Most of the natural moisture and flavor escapes from the small particles of tobacco before they are put in the package. By the time you smoke them, they are so dry that they burn fast and bite your tongue.

All the flavor and fragrance of the tobacco is pressed into the Sickle Plug and held there by nature's own covering—the natural leaf wrapper. When you whittle a pipeful of the plug you get fresh tobacco—slow-burning, cool-smoking, rich and sweet.

You don't pay for a package—don't waste any tobacco—and get more tobacco for your money. Buy some Sickle at your dealer's today. You'll find the Sickle way is the only way to get a satisfying smoke.

Paint and Not.

Paint was never before so high as last year; about $2.25 a gallon. Devotee and a half-dollar less for trash.

What is trash? It looks like paint and pretends to be paint, but isn't worth painting. It costs a painter's day's work to put on a gallon of paint, good or bad; and a painter's day's work is $3 or $4.

Add that to the price of a gallon. That is the cost of a gallon. Devotee is $5 or $6 a gallon; and trash a half-dollar less.

But Devotee is all paint and more too; 37 perfect paint for the painter's pot. But trash is three-quarters two-thirds of half paint; you pay a half-dollar less for nobody-knows-what-it-is.

10 gallons Devotee is enough for the average job; it takes 15 to 20 gallons of trash. And the wear same way. Unfortunately, they look alike when first put on.
